

Electronics Assembler

The Company

Stanford Research Systems (SRS) has a 40+ year history of designing and manufacturing scientific, analytical, and engineering test equipment for research and industrial applications. Products include lock-in amplifiers, atomic clocks, mass spectrometers, vacuum and gas analyzers, lasers and laser controllers, signal sources and signal analyzers. We serve a wide range of customers, including academic researchers, test and measurement laboratories, electronic equipment manufacturers, and government agencies. Our products are known for their accuracy, precision, stability, and value.

The Company is located in the San Francisco Bay Area. The Company offers competitive compensation and a complete benefits package. See www.ThinkSRS.com for additional information on the Company's products, markets and location.

Job description

We are looking for an Electronics Assembler to join our team in Sunnyvale, CA. This is a full-time, on-site role. They will be trained and responsible for electronic components, soldering chips, cables and boards.

Qualifications

- Strong hands-on experience.
- Experience with soldering and assembly.
- Knowledge of electronic components, such as resistors, capacitors, and transistors.
- Familiarity with circuit design.
- Solid mathematical foundations.
- Good mechanical aptitude.
- Dexterity and small components.

Requirements

- 1 to 3 years prior experience in a related field.
- Candidates must have a legal right to work in the US.

Salary and Benefits

- Pay range is $17.95 /hour, depending on experience plus Bonus on parts built.
- SRS offers a complete benefits package including health and dental insurance, matching 401(k) retirement plan, and paid time off.

Please submit your application by email at employment@thinkSRS.com
